Miss Me but Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me I want no rites in a gloom-filled room. Why cry for a soul that's set free. Miss me a little, but not too long and not with your head bowed low. Remember the love that we once shared. Miss me, but let me go. For this is a journey that we all must take and each must go alone. It's all a part of the Master's plan, a step on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick of heart, go to the friends we knew and laugh at the things that we used to do. Miss me, but let me go.

“ Our dear, dear friend, Angie, words cannot express the void you have left in our hearts. How lucky we were when you came into our lives and brought a friendship that would last a lifetime. We admired your strength, your grace, and your ever-present smile as you faced every adversity that came your way. It meant so much to be able to be with you, hold your hands, and watch that same gleam in your eyes, even to the end. Our hearts are heavy, but we take comfort in knowing that you are at peace and no longer in pain.
