“ I miss Armando so much!! My husband an I knew him from St. Francis de Sales Church, and looked forward to chatting with him every week. He gave me all those charitable gifts he received in the mail-- calendars, note pads, stickers, cards, bags, gloves and socks!! Haha! I am a teacher and was so thankful to add these items to the "treasure box" as prizes for the kids. He advised me about the shows he was watching on EWTN, and told me to watch the movie about St. Philip Neri even though I told him I didn't like subtitles... he said it was worth it, and he was right!! ("Paradiso, Paradiso, preferisco paradiso"...)
We shared memories of growing up back East (NY/NJ) and our Italian heritage. Hey, he was going to give me some of his daughter's delicious marinara sauce after Thanksgiving!!! That was our last conversation...I promised I would ALWAYS pray for him and for his wife (whom I never met, regrettably). He missed her so much!!Our parents are also buried at the VA cemetery-- we will visit Armando the next time we go ❤️
Sending condolences to the family!Your dad was an awesome man!!
