

Cletis Clifton Arnold II

February 20, 1953 - June 25, 2026

A man can't die where there is no earth because there will be no place to bury him. His body is the sky and understands the language of birds. His body says the earth is made of everything that has fallen from Heaven while no one was looking. He promises to defy gravity and then return home.