

Edward G Prinz

April 5, 1935 - June 20, 2018

Ed left us after being here for 83 years, and it is still soon for him to have gone. The hole left behind by Ed's passing is impossible to fill because he was so much to so many; a strong husband, a loving father, a wise grandfather, a caring dog lover, a master salesman, a skillful outdoorsman, a talented storyteller, a gregarious toastmaster, a sly jokester, and an avid golfer. His banter with his wife Victoria made every holiday gathering warmer and funnier, his booming laugh punctuated many a punchline, and he taught his great-grandson to believe in magic. Ed is survived by his wife Victoria, his son, his stepchildren Mary Miller and Bernie DeCosmo, his grandchildren, his great-grandson, and many other family members and friends who Ed treated like family. Ed would often use this toast in happy social gatherings, and we would like to pass it on to you: "Here's to you and here's to me, and here's to the friends we will always be. But if, by chance, we disagree, then screw you and here's to me."
