A Fallen Limb

A limb has fallen from the family tree. I keep hearing a voice that says, "Grieve not for me. Remember the best times, the laughter, the song. The good life I lived while I was strong. Continue my heritage, I'm counting on you. Keep smiling and surely the sun will shine through. My mind is at ease, my soul is at rest. Remembering all, how I truly was blessed. Continue traditions, no matter how small. Go on with your life, don't worry about falls. I miss you all dearly, so keep up your chin. Until the day comes we're together again."

“ There's so many things I'll never get to tell you, as there are many things I know you wanted to say to me. Even though it may be to late, I feel I must state, from your son as much as I thought about you I never thought fate would take you away. For if I had I would have said I love you dad, and now I grieve but not that you are without pain and in heaven above, instead for the lost opertunity to show you dad how I care.
