Psalm 23 Traditional

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil; for thou art with me. Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

“ Lynda was a great sister. There are so many memories. We were only 13 months apart in age. Mom dressed us like twins till we were in 7th grade. After we were out of school we lived together in Fargo for about 2 years. Then after Lori was born we lived in the same apt. bldg. in Minneapolis . we were still there when Donna was born. We were together for years. Lisa was born. Lynda moved to Detroit Lakes. Then moved to Las Vegas. Then we didn't get to see each other that often but keep in touch by telephone or letters. I will miss those telephone calls very much. Will always remember the good times. Loved her so much.

“ Lynda was the most trusting, innocent soul I've ever had the honor of knowing. Her heart was always open to loving and enjoying everyone around her, especially her children and grandchildren. There was always a smile on her face and never a complaint in her heart. She sailed through adversity with total trust in our Lord. She was always an inspiration to me. God rest your soul, my dear, sweet sister(-in-law), until we meet again.

“ I love you, Mama!!AS THEY AREI look out and see the orange sunrise beyond the silhouette of the mountains- Gods created outline between the earth and sky.Our first day without you. It's so surreal to think that you will no longer be here. You always loved the mountains. You thought they were so beautiful.As I look at the illuminated sky behind them, I can't help but compare them to you. As they are, you were beautiful in many different aspects. As they are, you were strong. You endured many things, Mama, but you always got through. As they are, you were always stubborn as a rock and held your ground. As they are, you were a beautiful creation of God's hand.I will always see you when I look at the mountains- your strength, your beauty, your stubbornness. 'Til your last breath, you held strong. I wiped that last tear from your eye, as you said good- bye. We know, Mama. You loved us and didn't want to leave us behind. It was your time and you needed to be free.The mountains, as they are, you, too, remain within us, steadfast and strong. You are beautiful. We love you, but it was time for you to move on.-L.A.
