When I'm Gone

When I come to the end of my journey and I travel my last weary mile. Just forget if you can, that I ever frowned and remember only the smile. Forget unkind words I have spoken; remember some good I have done. Forget that I ever had heartache and remember I've had loads of fun. Forget that I have stumbled and blundered and sometimes fell by the way. Remember I have fought some hard battles and won, ere the close of the day. Then forget to grieve for my going, I would not have you sad for a day. But in summer just gather some flowers and remember the place where I lay, and come in the evening when the sun paints the sky in the west. Stand for a few moments beside me and remember only my best.

“ I'm so sad to learn of your passing. You're the best hula instructor I've ever had the pleasure and luck to learn from, and I thoroughly enjoyed all your classes. I have such fond memories of learning not only hula but also Maori and using the sticks, sitting on the floor. That was hilarious! We all laughed our eyes out! I enjoyed all my hula sisters in Wahiawa, and I miss those days. You are such a gifted hula instructor, and we were lucky to have you sing and play the ukulele for us while we danced. I know you're in a much better place now and that you're with Herbert once again. Me ke nui aloha...
