Miss Me but Let Me Go

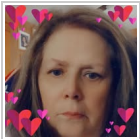

When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me I want no rites in a gloom-filled room. Why cry for a soul that's set free. Miss me a little, but not too long and not with your head bowed low. Remember the love that we once shared. Miss me, but let me go. For this is a journey that we all must take and each must go alone. It's all a part of the Master's plan, a step on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick of heart, go to the friends we knew and laugh at the things that we used to do. Miss me, but let me go.

“ My cousin, Michael a guy with a personality bigger than life which would fill up a room! As a boy, he'd always have room for a plate of Gramma's spaghetti, even though he'd just come from supper at home! His mom always exclaimed, “But you just ate at home!! How can you eat again?” Though it happened with every visit, she always seemed surprised. A kind heart, Michael will always be remembered. (from Mary Jo in NC)

“ Mike, I can't believe you're gone, just 2 days after we had spoken. My heart breaks as you were my oldest friend, 69 years worth of memories shared. Since you've gone to Heaven before me, it's up to you to organize that reunion with all our classmates that are with you now. Don't forget to keep the laughs going until one day we have the largest reunion ever. I'll miss our phone calls until then. Love you. ❤️Debbie Paonessa Tramontano
