Lord make me an instrument of Thy peace; where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy. O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console; to be understood, as to understand; to be loved, as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned and it is in dying, that we are born to eternal life.

“ Happy heavenly 92nd birthday Mom. I can't believe it's been over 3 years since I last felt your touch. You would be thrilled to know that President TRUMP won this past election. We can't wait for him to fix this country and make things affordable again. You would've benefited from his policies for seniors. Anyways, I never stop thinking about you and Dad. I hope you are both happy together again. Please continue to watch over us and keep all of us safe. I love you - chinky

“ Happy 91st birthday Mom. Well, we are entering our 2nd winter here and I can't wait for you and dad to witness the snow fall from up above. You would have enjoyed it here but I believe you have a better view there. I'm learning how to take care of outdoor plants and I feel so much closer to you and dad when I'm out in the yard. I can spend 3- 5 hours just absorbing the fresh air. I miss you so much and there's not a second that I don't ache for the both of you. Please watch over us and keep us safe. I love you - chinky

“ Hi Mom, Happy Mothers Day!! Its Spring time, the flowers are blooming, John and I planted some flowers and plants for you in the yard! We have a ton of visitors (birds) in the yard including a Duck (named Chuck), and also a Rabbit (named Templeton) :)! We survived the winter, it was not bad, a lot of snow, cold winds and bunch of comfort food! We love and miss you!! I pray every day with John on our way to work, pray for you and Papa and the entire family. Say Hi to Dad! Love you Chinky

“ Happy Birthday Mom! Today would mark your 90th year on earth. Well, A lot has happened since my last entry. We finally relocated to a safe place and is living our lives out like how you wanted us to do. John has a great job helping veterans. Alex is continuing his studies, Neil is ranked real high as a gamer. I must apologize about 896. I know you stressed your concerns, but in the end it was necessary for all parties involved. I wanted them to join us and find their own place but Kuya & George decided to stay behind, and Jo in Hawaii. We pray for their health and safety everyday as LV has gotten worse since you've been gone. I still carry this pain in my heart that I was not there with you holding your hand. A couple weeks ago, I was driving to the store by myself and noticed a strong odor. After thinking for awhile, I recognize the smell as one of your perfumes that you use to wear. I read your letters that I stumble upon while unpacking and it makes me cry. You would love this place so much because of all of the foliage and the change of season. I admire the sunsets here because if I can see it, so can you. I miss you and Dad so much. Say hello to the doggies for us. Winter is here and I will let you know how that goes. Please continue to pray and watch over us. Our prayers are with you and papa always. Till next time....

“ Happy Mothers Day Mom! I clearly remember this day 1 year ago. Now 1 year later, John & I venture back to our happy place to find our forever home. You and papa loved planting flowers and trees, And I know deep in my heart that you both will be happy there. I promise to continue your hobby by creating a garden in memory of you both. There is never a second missed that I don't think about you. I will forever keep you in my heart. Please protect us with Prayer and Love. I LOVE YOU!

“ Hi Mom, sorry I didn't write an entry on what would have been your 89th birthday. The month went by so fast. A huge part of my life was taking you to your appointments and outings, and I miss that. I feel your presence every where I go. Your subtle messages that you send just tells me that you are near. We miss and love you so much. Have fun with Dad. Please watch over us and keep us safe.

“ Grandma, thank you for taking care of Neil and I. We grew up being a part of a special authentic and traditional culture because of you and Grandpa. We experienced what life was like during your era and the times before technology through you and the loving household that was provided for us. You have encouraged us always and taught us numerous things that we could use in life to better ourselves and adapt to the situations around us. Unconditionally, you loved all of us and did not want strife or hardship for anyone. The gardens and flowers that you have planted throughout the Earth continue to live and grow in our souls here and continue on into Heaven. You are not gone, you are just away, you are back at home. We will all regroup once again forever and ever. We all thank you for everything you have done for us. I Love You so much Grandma.
